Alexandra Duvivier

Rare female representative of the magical arts, Alexandra Duvivier was awarded the prestigious Mandrake d'Or in France and became the first French female magician to fool Penn & Teller on their famous American television show «Fool Us.»

Daughter of Dominique Duvivier, a living legend in the world of magic, she faced a dual challenge: to establish her own reputation after her illustrious father and to become a highly respected artist in the field. Unlike many children of performers, she was never pushed by her father to follow in his footsteps. It wasn't until the age of 15 that Alexandra embarked on her journey to gradually become the worthy heir to her father's legacy.

Becoming a favored artist for top brands at their private events (Hermès, Louis Vuitton, Chanel, L'Oréal...), a hand double for famous actors in cinema, she has a total of eight shows to her credit: three solo performances, three in a duo with her father, one for children, and a final one performed entirely in English.

With her sharp humor, magic that is both pure and generous, and her natural empathy for both young and old, she captivates an increasingly larger audience.

Her journey not only exemplifies excellence in the art of magic but also showcases her ability to inspire future generations.
